Teleco Controls

Proven Performance

The Teleco Control unit is a proven performer from specialist automation experts Teleco. The versatile control is compatible with optical and electric safety edges in both wireless and wired versions.

Reliable Performance

Built for reliability, the control unit includes an automatic courtesy light with adjustable interval. The door can also be operated from the simple up, down and stop controls on the front of the unit.

A pair of two channel transmitters are supplied as standard.

An alarm is available as an option that will sound if an attempt is made to force the door upwards.

Options

Alarm module for intruder deterrent

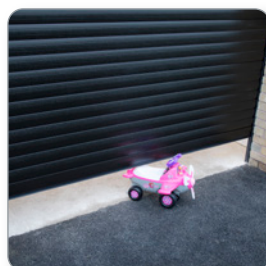

Four channel transmitters to operate up to four compatible products

Wireless keypad for simple code access

Teleco Wired and Wireless safety edge control units available

Safe Performance

The safety edge stops and reverses the travel of the door on contact with an obstruction.
